

TECH SUPPORT SCAM

- ▶ Have you gotten a call from someone who says they are a computer technician and informs you that your computer has a virus or malware?
- ▶ Have you received a call stating you overpaid for tech support and would like to give you a credit?

If you get either one of these types of calls HANG UP!
— these are two popular types of Tech Support Scams.

In addition, they may or may not also request remote access to your computer and/or ask you to log into your bank's internet banking site. These should serve as additional red flags.
